EOS Risk Group have established a sound reputation for providing exemplary protective services around the world. Supported by our 24/7 Global Security Operations Centre (GSOC) and our accredited Global Provider Network (GPN), we can operate in complex environments and in the most challenging of situations.

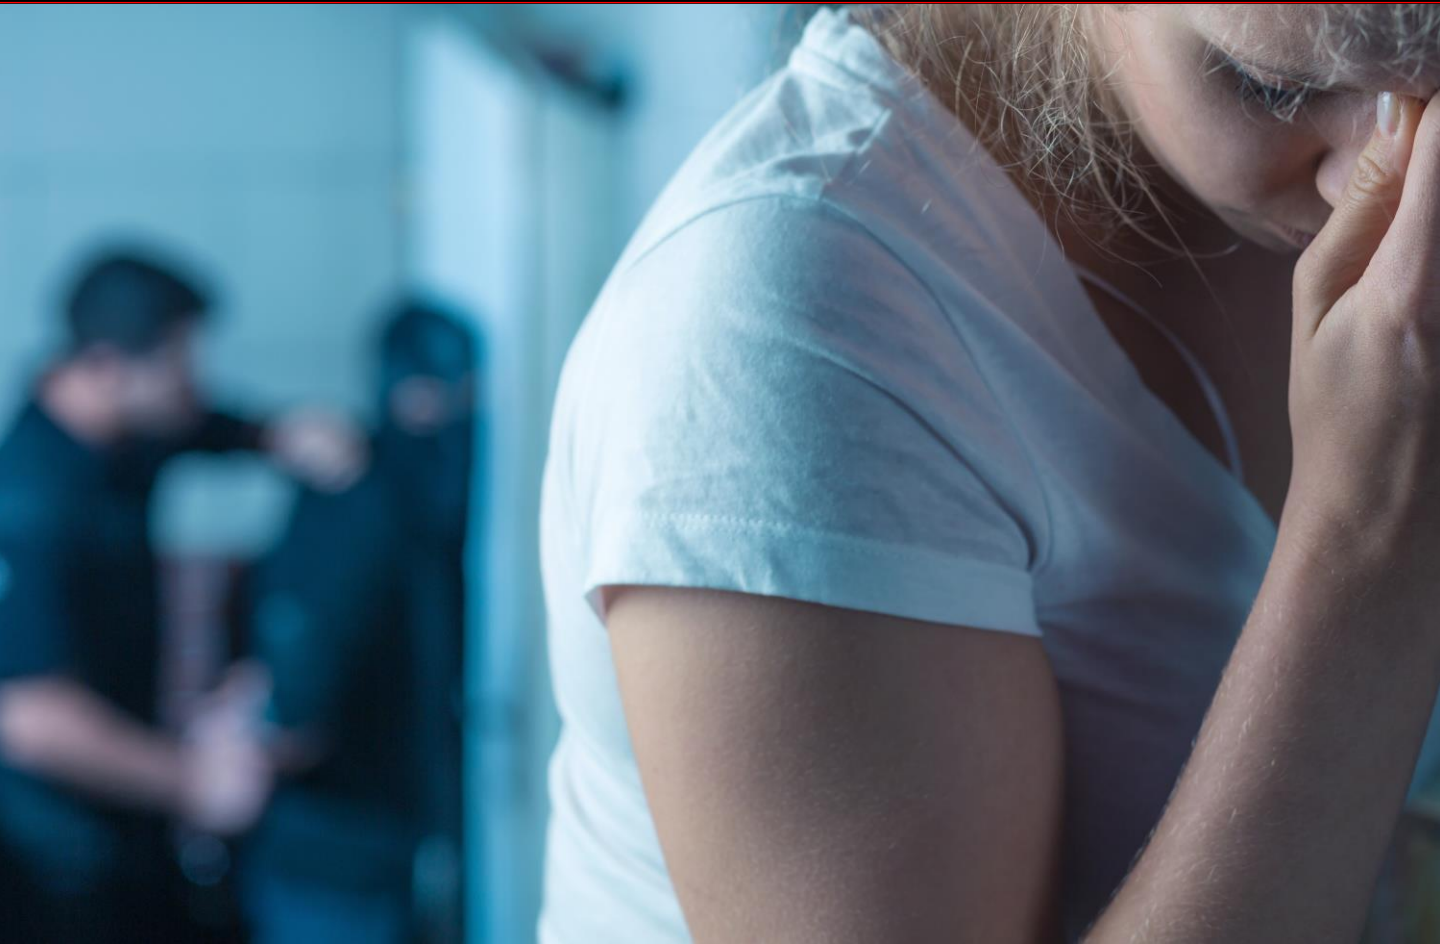

In today's unpredictable world, we understand that Active Assailant incidents have the potential to pose severe and unpredictable risk, both to businesses and people.

Active assailant incidents are becoming more and more frequent. In 2018 alone, some 340 mass shootings were reported in the United States. In the United Kingdom, statistics have shown that there was a 16% increase in knife-related incidents and a 2% increase in firearm incidents when compared to the previous year.

Having worked side by side with the Lloyd's insurance sector for over ten years, EOS have developed a highly specialised Active Assailant service and management programme, designed to provide the ultimate assurance to policyholders and enterprise clients

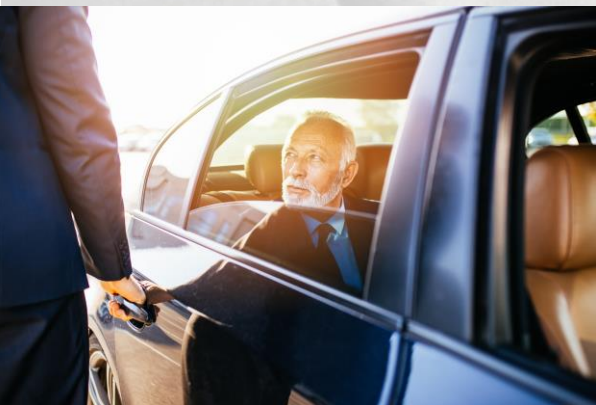

Our multi-faceted approach is based on combined knowledge & experience of risk and proven methodologies, which are further underpinned by detailed assessments and in-depth intelligence capabilities.

EOS Risk provide a comprehensive service to give your business the assurances and peace of mind that you require.

Working to reduce uncertainty and risk, our Active Assailant Service is able to provide the following:

- Intelligence based assessments, including crisis response plans and site risk evaluations.
- Pre-incident training to provide guidance on how to respond to an active assailant incident.
- Response and crisis management services, including access to specialist 24/7 crisis operation team.
- Support and advice for outside interaction, including crisis PR and media management.
- Specialist advice on family matters.
- Cyber Review and monitoring and tracking services.
